TO A CENTRAL LOCATION

DAYTONA, FLORIDA, March 21.—(The Daytona Daily News.)

That a more important act of the city of Daytona than the building of a new auditorium is the building of a new city hall, is the opinion of Mr. J. H. Burgoyne, president of the city of Daytona. He says that the city hall is the most important building in the city, and that it should be moved to a central location.

BURGOYNE PRESENTS BUILDING TO CITY OF DAYTONA TO BE REMODELLED INTO AUDITORIUM

SAYS CITY MAY HAVE HIS BOATHOUSE TO BE MOVED
TO A CENTRAL LOCATION

ESTIMATES COST OF MOVING
AND REMODELLING WILL BE
$3,000 AND THEN IT WILL BE WORTH $12,000.

That a mere suggestion of a way in which improvements may be made in the city of Daytona is sufficient for Commodore C. G. Burgoyne to act, and that he stands ready to assist in every way possible to maintain Daytona's reputation as the prettiest and finest winter resort in the world, is demonstrated in a practical way today, when Mr. Burgoyne presented to the city the big boathouse which stands in the river in front of his residence on North Beach street.

There are no strings attached to the presentation, except that the building shall be moved from its present location to a spot in front of the business section of the city, and the suggestion that the proper location is on the river front between Volusia and Orange avenues.

Mr. Burgoyne estimates it will cost about $3,000 to move and remodel the structure into a commodious public building and that when it is remodelled and permanently located it will be worth to the city about $12,000.

The presentation of the building to the city of Daytona is announced by Mr. Burgoyne in the following letter to the Daily News:

"Editor Daily News:
"The suggestion by some citizen,
in the Daily News of Monday, that Daytona needs a commodious public building on the river front and that my boathouse could be remodelled into such a building, is timely, and I hereby present the boathouse to the city of Daytona, with the understanding that it shall be moved from its present location to a convenient location in front of the business section of the city, and that the city have it remodelled into a structure which can be used for band concerts and all public gatherings. I would suggest the best location for such a structure is on the water front between Volusia and Orange avenues.
"C. G. BURGOYNE."

There is no question but that the city of Daytona will accept the gift from Mr. Burgoyne and this action should be taken at once, accompanied by a vote of thanks from every citizen and winter resident of the city and vicinity.

The work of moving the structure should be started at once, so that by the beginning of next season the city will be in possession of a creditable public auditorium.

A total of .73 of an inch of water fell during the rain of Monday night, making a total of 1.53 inches of water up to this time in the month of March.

MAY BRING SEWER EXPERT TO DAYTONA

CLERK TO CORRESPOND WITH SEVERAL TO LEARN THE COST

NAMES OF SEVERAL COMPETENT
MEN SUBMITTED TO THE CITY COUNCIL BY DR. HENRY
MITCHELL.

A definite step in the direction of a sewer system for the city of Daytona was taken at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night, when a list of sanitary engineers was submitted to the council by Dr.
Henry Mitchell and City Clerk A.
McF. Porter was instructed to correspond with these men to learn what would be the approximate cost of having one of these experts come to Daytona, investigate conditions and give an estimate of the cost of installing an adequate sewer system.

Dr. Mitchell is a sewer expert from New Jersey, who is spending the season in Daytona Beach. Recently he gave an informal talk to the members of the city council on sanitation in general and in a general way on conditions in Daytona, making some suggestions as to how conditions here can be improved. At the request of the council Dr.
Mitchell submitted a list of the names of several of the best sanitary engineers in the United States, and if arrangements can be made one of these men will be brought to Daytona to investigate conditions and make a report to the council, embracing suggestions as to the best system of sewers to be installed.

By action of the council Mayor Titus was instructed to investigate the caulking connections in the gas mains being laid throughout the city, to see that all connections are tight.

SEES MANY CHANGES IN THIS VICINITY

RETURNS TO DAYTONA AFTER AN ABSENCE OF FORTY YEARS

JOHN E. FOX OF MANSFIELD, OHIO, ASSISTED IN SURVEY OF TOWN SITE AND ERECTION OF PALMETTO HOTEL.

John E. Fox of Mansfield, Ohio, registered at the Granite hotel on North Beach street, assisted in the survey of the town site of what is now the city of Daytona and was also engaged in the construction of Daytona's first hotel, the Palmetto house.

Mr. Fox arrived Monday and will probably be here for a week or more looking over Daytona and the adjacent towns. He will go from this place to Corinth, Miss., where he has a daughter.

Mr. Fox came to this section in 1870 in company with Theo. Jackson and two brothers, George and Charles Super, all of Mansfield, Ohio, and was engaged with J. H. Fowler, civil engineer, then residing at Port Orange, in surveying and laying out the site of the town being promoted by Mathias Day of Mansfield.

The young men for some time camped on the peninsula side of the river, occupying a couple of palmetto shacks. They were then engaged in the survey work with Mr.
Fowler and Mr. Fox recalls laying out a street along the ridge, evidently what is now beautiful Ridgewood avenue.

Later Mr. Fox, who was a carpenter, was engaged in the construction of the Palmetto house, lumber for which was brought by boat from Jacksonville. During this time he lived on the mainland, while the others continued at their camp on the peninsula. The Palmetto house was built for Mr. Day and was at first under the management of Mr.
and Mrs. R. W. Peck, parents of F.
T. Peck of the Peck-Hendricks company. Later it came into the possession of Mrs. Mary Hoag of Cincinnati. The frame building replaced a palmetto structure which had formed the only hostelry of the new town.

There were but two or three habitations on the town site at that time, says Mr. Fox and they were constructed of logs or pine poles. A saw mill was brought here in 1871
by a Mr. Skelton of Gallion, Ohio, and afterwards purchased by Robt.
Morrison of Ada, Ohio, according to Mr. Fox.

Mr. Fox was not interested in hunting, but says there was evidently lots of game in those days.
The fishing, however, did appeal to him and he says the waters were fairly alive with fish of various kinds. At one time, while fishing from a boat, in company with a friend, in the river channel opposite this city, Mr. Fox hooked and with the assistance of his friend landed a sea bass which weighed 40½ pounds and provided a meal for all the occupants of the hotel.

Speaking of fish, Mr. Fox related a strange story of countless numbers of mullet being killed by a hail

GOT HIS NOTES MIXED UP

Absent-Minded Man Has Some Difficulty at the Book Store and the Grocers'.

As the little man walked absent-mindedly along the sidewalk he suddenly stopped in front of a bookstore. It recalled to him the meaning of that piece of string on his finger, and with a brightened face he entered.

"Just a minute," he said to the clerk. "My wife wanted me to get a book for her—a certain novel she's heard a good deal about. I must find the memorandum she gave me. She wrote the name on a slip of paper, and I put it in my pocket."

After considerable fumbling he produced a small bit of paper, and laying it on the counter, took out his spectacles and adjusted them on his nose.

"Here's the name—Cobb's Cornatine. Yes, that's it."

"I'm afraid I don't know the book, sir," said the clerk apologetically. "but I'll look through the list of new ones." And he ran his eye over the list on the wall. "No, I'm sorry to say I can't find it here. You are sure of the name?"

"Yes, it's right here on this piece of paper."

"Well, I'm afraid we haven't got it then."

"But—but I don't dare to go home to my wife without it. I promised to get it for her."

The clerk called to another in the back of the store, who came forward.

To the other he said: "Say, Bill, do you know of a book called Cornatine, by a fellow named Cobb?"

"What's that?" he asked in surprise.

The old gentleman broke in: "Cobb's Cornatine. Here, see for yourself."

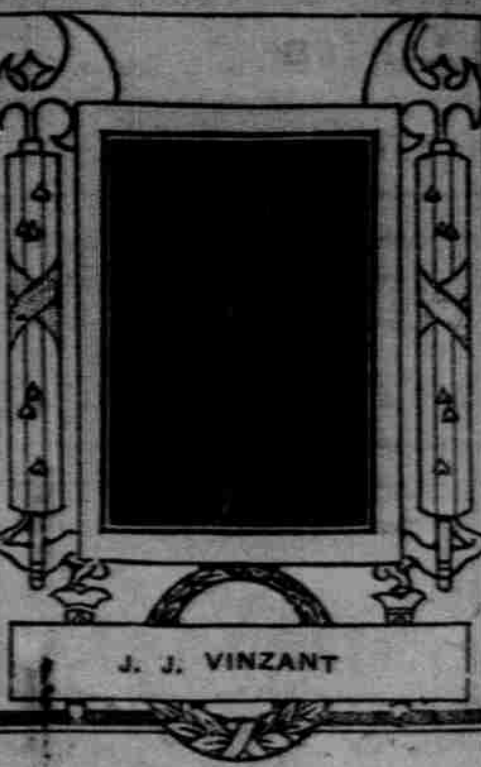

"I'm afraid you've made a mistake," said the new arrival with a twinkle. "Cobb's Cornatine is a new breakfast food."

"Ah, now I see why the grocer didn't understand me when I asked him for a package of Queed," remarked the customer with manifest relief. —G. Kaemmerling in Puck.

JUDGMENT BY THE KIMONO

Women Size Each Other Up by a Method Which They Consider Is Infallible.

Even as men judge one another by a Masonic emblem, an Elk pin or the band of a cigar, so do women in sleeping gowns weigh each other according to the rules of the Ancient Order of the Kimono.

Seven seconds after Emma McCheaney first beheld the negligee that stood revealed in the dim light she had in her hand a small, marked, marked, docketed and placed.

It was a kind of kimono that is associated with straw-colored hair, and French beehive shoes and overfed dogs at the end of a leash.

The Japanese are wrongly accused of having perpetrated it. In pattern it showed bright green flowers that never were sprouting on a purple background. A diamond bar fastened it not too near the throat.

It was one of Emma McCheaney's boasts that she was the only living woman who could get off a sleeper at Bay City, Mich., at 5 a. m. without looking like an immigrant just dumped at Ellis Island.

Traveling had become a science with her, as witness her serviceable dark-blue silk kimono, and her hair in a schoolgirl braid down her back—American Magazine.

Sleuthing Coffee Fragrance.

Under Frederick the Great fellows with keen, long noses, throughout the country got jobs as Coffee-smellers to smell out the bean roasting and to detect the odor off the boiling coffee. The government tried building big coffee roasting plants and charging high prices, and in time the Germans all turned again to beer, and coffee was considered a luxury.

Natural Question.

"I am so very fond of music," said Miss Kittish, as she swung herself round on the piano stool and faced Mr. Harkins, after thrumming away for half an hour for his entertainment. "Ah!" replied the young gentleman thoughtlessly. "Why don't you take lessons?"—Stray Stories.

Her Business Instinct.

Three-year-old Eleanor was given a dime as a reward for docility in taking a dose of medicine. The next day her elder brother offered her a nickel to pick up a basket of chips in his place. "Hm!" refused Eleanor. "I can make more than that taking castor oil."

His Many Titles.

The old caretaker of an Episcopal church, as he sat on a tombstone in the churchyard, dismissed as trivial the question of his proper title. "The good old creed keeps the same for all," he said, "though they may change the words they use. Look at me here I used to be the janitor. Then we had a parson who called me the sextant. Dr. Thirdly gave me the name of virgin. And the young man we've got now says I'm the sacrilege."

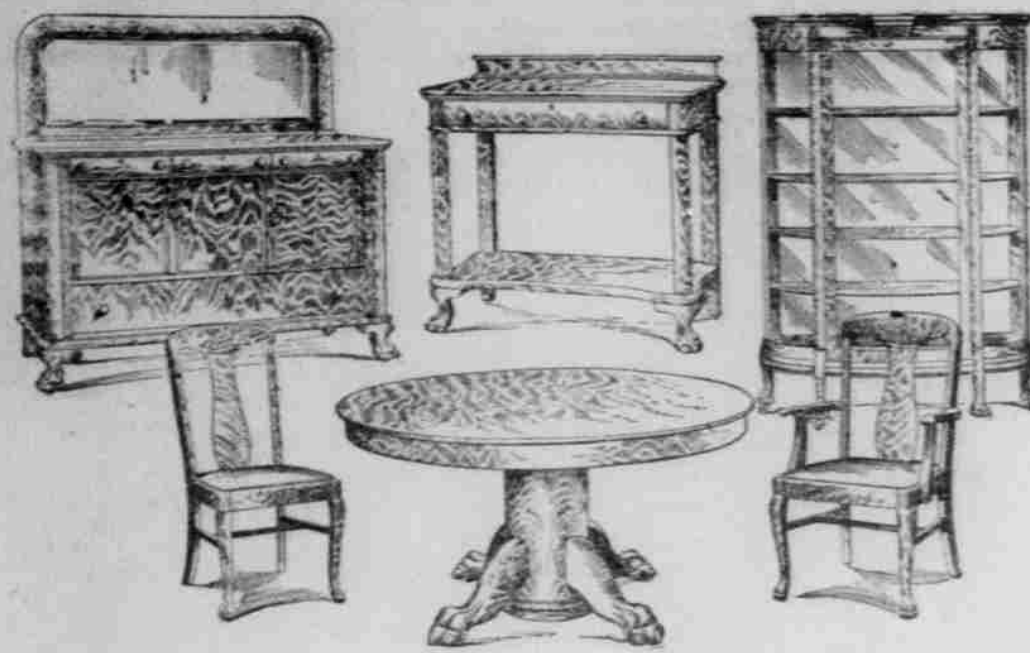

Do Unto Others.

He who would pass the declining years of his life with honor and comfort should, when young, consider that he may one day become old, and remember, when he is old, that he has once been young.—Addison.

Not All Owing to Wife.

"Biggins says he owes everything to his wife." "That isn't true," replied Biggins' father-in-law. "His wife quit leading him anything years ago and then he started in owing me."—Washington Star.

HOTEL INDIAN RIVER.
ROCKLEDGE, Fla., Mar. 11—Rockledge generally, and members of the Rockledge-Cocoa Yacht club in particular, are becoming greatly interested in the approaching regatta of motor boats to be held over their beautiful course, March 18, 19, and 20. The many acceptances being received indicate an unusually attractive and interesting meet and some of the fastest boats in the world will be seen in action. A few of the owners are on the ground already and to those who are making their first visit the course is revelation and they are more than anxious to get into the game.

Over $1,500.00 worth of beautiful cups which are now being exhibited, are to be given as prizes and the meeting is held under the authority and auspices of the American Pover Boat association, so that any records made will be authentic and official. The handicapping and general management of the affair is in the hands of an expert man in these matters and he is receiving hearty cooperation from the members of the club, the Hotel Indian River and the guests and cottagers generally and everything points to a most successful and interesting meeting.

Golf still proves a delightful pastime with many of the guests and handicaps and private matches are being daily played on the links and the members of the "goat club" are still playing back and forth for either the recovery of their lost goats or the winning of their opponents'. Each day brings a change in the standing of the leaders in the several contests for prizes. Fred Beuden still leads in the contest for the single large fish, with a catch of a channel bass weighing 35 pounds, while Master Wilbur Gaines' catch of a 15 1/2 sargent fish puts him in the lead for the catch of the largest single fish excepting bass.

The tacky dance given at the Rockledge-Cocoa Yacht club, Wednesday night was a very enjoyable affair and attended by a large number of members and guests of the hotel. Walter Comfort, together with N. J. Waller, wife and daughters, arrived in their yacht, Napada, and are stopping over at Rockledge for a short visit on their way to Savannah. They have been enjoying a cruise to the Bahamas, Jamaica, and about Miami. E. F. Bush and his wife, and his secretary, A. M. Green, arrived in the special car "Wichita" from St. Louis, Wednesday evening and are stopping for several weeks at the Indian River hotel. Mr. Bush, who is president of the Missouri Pacific railway and Alex Robertson of Baltimore, former president of the Western Maryland railway, who is also stopping at the Indian River hotel, are friends of long standing and have joined forces in order to break all fishing records. An entertainment was given in the parlor of the hotel Thursday night by the dining room girls and the head waiter which was a pleasant surprise to the guests. An excellent vaudeville performance was offered and thoroughly enjoyed. While the entertainment was originally intended for their own amusement, the performance was so good that Mr. Jenness insisted upon the performance being public and all the guests were both surprised and greatly pleased with the excellence of the same and the guests decided that many of the girls missed their calling and should be in the ranks of professionals.

Among the recent arrivals at the hotel are the following: S. E. Van Deusen, M. V. Blackford, Parkersburg, W. Va.; W. R. Comfort, New York; A. H. Henderson, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Waller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Hall and son, Aradell, N. Y.; Mrs. H. P. Shares, New Haven, Conn.; John Birkenbauer, Newark, N. J.; Geo. L. Smith, Newark, N. J.; Eugene Leverone, Cincinnati, O.; Vic. Draber, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. M. Scola and wife, Mt. Sterling, Ky.; Robt. E. Magee, Brooklyn, N. Y.; A. M. Green, St. Louis, B. F. Bush, St. Louis, Mrs. B. F. Bush, St. Louis, Mrs. F. N. Look, Northampton, Mass.; Mrs. G. A. Burr, Northampton, Mass.; Mrs. A. F. Bangs, Northampton, Mass.; J. F. Lu and wife, New York; H. F. Schulte and wife, Utica, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. Christy, New York; C. H. Frederick, New York; Benson Smith New York; J. T. Almand, Atlanta, Ga., and many others.

Bird's Nest in Mail Box.
Probably a bird's nest in a rural mail box is a rare thing, if it has ever happened before, but out in Oswegatchie a small bird has taken possession of a mail box and has already built her nest and laid three eggs and it looks as though she would complete her work of hatching and rearing her young.

The particular box picked out by the bird is one that is in use daily and the mail carrier never misses a stop at this box. Mrs. Bird seems to enjoy the idea to have the mail carrier lift the cover of the box and deposit the mail and will sit on her nest as unconcerned as can be. The mail box has been fixed so that it will not close entirely so that the bird may complete the task of rearing her young. It is not known what kind of a bird this is, but it is thought that it is a phebe, being brown of color and about the size of a sparrow and laying sky-blue eggs.—Watertown Correspondent New London Day.

SEES MANY CHANGES
IN THIS VICINITY

storm. The storm occurred after nightfall and was accompanied by thunder and frequent flashes of lightning and at each discharge of the electric fluid the mullet would leap from the water, to be beaten back into it by the falling hail and so many were killed in this manner that they drifted ashore in great numbers and were gathered up and used for fertilizer, just as they were following the great freeze of 1888, which practically destroyed all the fish at that time in the river.

The latter part of Mr. Fox's stay was spent at Port Orange and he left in April, 1873, on board the schooner Minnehaha, which was in command of Captain Douglas and was loaded with live oak timbers for the Brooklyn navy yard.

It is really superfluous to say that Daytona to Mr. Fox is a strange place with the one exception of the Palmetto hotel and even that has undergone several changes since he saw it last. Where he laboriously cut his way along the ridge with an ax and knife, while carrying the surveyor's chain, there now exists a broad avenue, lined on either side by handsome residences and fine hotels. The river front, which as he knew it was a tangled mass of brush and trees, is now occupied by blocks of business buildings, largely built of brick and concrete and modern in all particulars. The broad Halifax is spanned by numerous bridges and the peninsula, at that time an absolute and unbroken wilderness, has undergone the same transformation and where was only nature's solitude now flourish the progressive and rapidly growing towns of Seabreeze and Daytona Beach.

Important Point.

"Would you die for me?" she murmured. "Gladly, darling," he answered. "And would there," she continued, softly, "be anything left for me after the undertaker's bill was paid?"—The Bachelor's Casket.

Homely Hint.

The air of a cellar or any dark store room can be kept sweet by hanging lumps of charcoal there in net bags. Every few weeks the charcoal should be taken out, made very hot and returned to the bag.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

LIKES PICTORIAL DAYTONA

Editor Daily News:

Having read with profound appreciation the statements in your Pictorial Daytona, I take occasion to say a visitor, to verify, not only by individual observation, but by that of many of the tourists with whom I have talked in the eight weeks I have tarried here, the absolute correctness of your editor, and I do not hesitate to say, his representation, will doubtless be confirmed in the future by every itinerant, who may purchase, behold the physical conditions of your town and its surroundings. J. C. WRIGHT, Louisville, Ky.

TRAVEL TALK OF A TRIP
AROUND THE WORLD.

At the regular meeting of the Palmetto club Thursday Marcus H. Rogers will give an illustrated talk of a journey around the world, with many of which he made himself, of Spain, Italy, Egypt, Palestine, India and Japan, and some of the other countries visited along the way. He is to be assisted by R. S. Holmes of Daytona Beach, with his lantern and light, which are of the best, and the entertainment will commence promptly at 2:30.

Practical Teaching.

One settlement worker in New York city has made a specialty of teaching boys how to make articles of furniture out of old packing boxes.

INTERESTING RIDES
AND DRIVES
POINTS WORTH VISITING

OCEAN BEACH—excellent motoring north for 10 miles and south 15 miles to Mosquito Inlet and the Government lighthouse at Ponce Park. The beach is the most magnificent in the world.

BEED, KNOX & BEED ORANGE GROVE—18 miles, via Ormond, is one of the largest groves in Volusia county and is well worth seeing; can be reached by motor over fairly good road; can also be reached by boat.

NUMBER NINE ORANGE GROVE—a large grove, passed on the way to the Beed, Knox & Beed grove, is 12 miles from Daytona.

NEW SMYRNA—16 miles from Daytona, over an excellent hard surfaced road; this drive is said to be the prettiest in the state. At New Smyrna are the ruins of an ancient fort and other historical spots, left by the colony of Andrew Turnbull.

OLD SPANISH MISSION—2 miles west of New Smyrna, reached by motor over good road. This mission is without authentic history but by many it is contended that this is the church built by Columbus on his second voyage to America. The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 8 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is presumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

DELAND—25 miles from Daytona; the county seat of Volusia county and seat of John B. Stetson university; a very picturesque city; reached by motor over hard surfaced road.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE—a Ponce Park, 12 miles from Daytona is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

DAYTONA BEACH—The scenic spot of Florida, reached by motor from Daytona in 10 minutes, and run in the navigable harbor, 25 miles from city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in the water. This is a trip a tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 28 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 10 miles west of New Smyrna; several orange groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona here is located the Ormond hotel, and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mills.

TURTLE MOUND—26 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other antiquities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard-surfaced road; or the trip one may make by the road across the Halifax river on the Port Orange bridge, the route can be made on the ocean beach.

CLARENDON GOLF LINKS—2 miles from Daytona and immediately north of the Hotel Clarendon at Seabreeze; the links are now in good condition. The Hotel Clarendon bears the distinction of being the only fireproof winter tourist hotel in the world.

GENERALLY, you may motor in any direction from Daytona and find places and objects of interest which your driver can explain to you; there are many by-roads through the sylvan vegetation that a visitor will greatly enjoy.

THOSE OCEAN FRONT LOTS AT $250 ARE CERTAINLY SELLERS

Only today the surveyor set the stakes locating the various lots, and before this was done seven or eight lots had been selected from the plat. Anyone who knows anything about beach property knows that a lot 50x250 opposite Daytona at $250 is a remarkable bargain. As we told you yesterday and Saturday, the owners picked this plat up at a low price and they are satisfied to let those who purchase from them make a good profit—in other words they are themselves satisfied with a fair profit.

The class of persons who have already made selections make the remaining property even more desirable, and if any of the lots are unsold Saturday night the price will be raised to $300 Monday morning. The title is perfect. The price, $250 cash for each lot, not over two lots to one purchaser. We can't afford to sell them on time at this price as the margin of profit is too low.

Beach property at $5 per front foot is the best investment you can make, especially when most of the buyers contemplate erecting cottages on the lots they have selected.

Conrad-Oates Realty, Title & Ins. Co.

N. B.—We don't care to sell any of these lots for purely speculative purposes.

PHOTOGRAPHING THE HUMAN VOICE

The photograph shows the man, who is the inventor of the machine, standing next to the machine. The machine is a large, complex piece of machinery used for recording and reproducing sound. MARKING OF HISTORIC INTEREST SEEN IN WASHINGTON

LOCAL COMMITTEE HAD TAKEN PAINS TO MARK PLACES OF
MOST INTEREST TO INAUGURA-TION CROWD.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Especially interesting to the thousands of visitors in Washington during inauguration week were the historic sites of minor importance which had been marked by the local committee on marking points of historic interest. This committee which has been in existence for several years, caused to be placed in conspicuous places on the spots which it was deemed to designate the official markers provided which indicate the nature of the interest which attaches. The mark of the committee is distinctive and all such marks are similar. It consists in a red, white and blue shield upon which are painted in plain black letters a few words describing the importance of the places marked.

The committee is authorized to select places to be marked and is supposed to gather as much general information concerning them as possible. This organization has turned up a great deal of obsolete historical matter which is of considerable value.

Houses are the principal objects of these markings and as Washington and Georgetown, the two cities of the District of Columbia, are well stocked with historic structures, the committee has a good deal to accomplish. Other places and things are marked however, such as an old pump or a boulder. In the histories of the United States, Washington and Georgetown are sometimes neglected and this committee is trying to turn up so much important historical matter that attention will be drawn to the part played in the history by these two cities. Georgetown was considered by many to be the very hub of the rebellion and now that the civil war has been placed 50 years back on the calendar, the oldest residents have no hesitancy about bringing to light facts they know concerning how certain houses in the capital figured in what the people hereabouts still occasionally term "our late unpleasantness." Georgetown was always a hotbed for the Confederacy and many Washingtonians were sympathetic in that direction. Many stories are told of how Confederate spies were harbored in houses of the townspeople and how money and supplies were smuggled to the rebel army by the people of the two District cities. Hiding places in some of the old Georgetown houses are shown of which many a Confederate officer is said to have taken advantage. There is a story to the effect that when John Wilkes Booth shot President Lincoln at the old Ford theater in Fifth street, the actor-assassin went to Georgetown and was hidden there until he could be sent beyond the sea. Difference of opinion exists as to whether the man taken by Booth's pursuers was really the actual assassin.

So with this wealth of material at hand, the committee on marking the points of historic interest has plenty to busy it. William P. Van Wick is chairman of the committee, which is composed of 100 Washingtonians. Several members of the oldest inhabitant association serve on this committee and they are of great assistance.

In the sections of the city where the older buildings remain, many of the shield signs of the committee are in evidence, marking the houses where former statesmen made their homes while making history in Washington. Old halls, churches and other public buildings are also marked.

This committee also has the task of selecting points of interest where will be placed permanent markers. The old Commodore Decatur house was the first one to receive this distinction. A bronze tablet bearing an inscription giving an outline of the history of the house and the names of the men who have lived within its walls has been set in the wall of this structure. The house stands in the southwest corner of LaFayette park. It is square and is built of square brick brought from England. Commodore Decatur built the house and it was subsequently occupied by Henry Clay, Martin Van Buren, Edward Livingston, George M. Dallas, Judah P. Benjamin and Gen. E. F. Beall. The house is now the property of the McLean family, John R. McLean's wife was a Beall.

But One Official War Cry.
In the very early days the French had their "Cri de guerre," the Scotch their slogan, and the English their war cries, but so many cries were launched by the different great British lords that in 1495 parliament passed a special law forbidding these cries, on the ground that they produced disorder, allowing but one battle cry, "St. George and the King."

PHOTOGRAPHING THE HUMAN VOICE

The photograph shows Antoine Pollak, the foreign inventor, giving his first demonstration of his new invention of photographing the human voice, and Miss Maggie Teyte, the opera singer, who took part in the experiment, which was held in New York. The receiver of the Pollak-Virag apparatus consists of a so-called optical telephone, i. e., a telephone membrane connected with a small mirror, which reflects a ray of light that is photographed on sensitive paper. The human voice will produce an oscillation in the membrane of the optical telephone, and the mirror will give a true record of this oscillation. This record is a photograph of the human voice.

WILL HELP ELECT PRESIDENT

MISS KATHERINE THORP ONE OF DELEGATES TO THE GATHERING IN WASHINGTON NEXT MONTH.

About 20 members of the various chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Florida will go to Washington next month to help elect a president general for their organization and they will go unopposed.

Although there are three candidates, two northern women and one southern, the Florida societies decided to allow their delegates to go unopposed, but it is believed that most of the state delegates will vote for the southern candidate.

Mrs. William Cunningham Story, of New York City, Mrs. John Miller, of Buffalo and Mrs. Bryan, of Tennessee are the present vice president general of the society, are the candidates.

Among those who will attend the sessions in Washington are Miss Louise C. Meigs, regent of the Jacksonville chapter, Miss E. M. Roubach, of Jacksonville, and Miss Katherine Thorpe, of Daytona, former state regent for Florida.

Mrs. Story is said to be leading in the battle for the president general at the present time. On the question of her candidacy for the chief of the society, Mrs. Story made two definite declarations that have won her many friends and votes. These policies are:

First, if elected she will begin an absolutely non-partisan administration in the selection of committees who will be governed by fitness without regard to party and will select as committee members many of those who have opposed her in the election; and that she will be the head of the whole society and not of any party.

Second, that she will attempt immediately to devise some successful means for paying off the outstanding debt of $150,000 against Continental Hall, the national home of the society at Washington. This, Mrs. Story says, she believes to be the most important work to be done and if the present plan of having every member contribute the highest office in the society, just aside a penny a day to contribute to the debt elimination fund is carried out it will not take long to be absolutely free of it.

From the remarks gathered by the friends of Mrs. Story it seems from the number of instructed delegates to the national conference that she is assured of election as president general.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By Dr. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

RECOVERING HEALTH.

Germes are the natural means of reducing dead or dying matter back to its original elements. Nutrition is the means by which the elements are made to maintain life. Only when the processes of nutrition fail or are weakened, are the germes required to perform their proper function—the total failure of which would soon make life impossible. The lowering of vitality through overwork, worry or auto-intoxication is a predisposing cause to any disease, seen particularly in the contraction of pneumonia or consumption. Infections need to be combatted and there are all artificial means to assist nature in antedating and overcoming infections and of aiding her in strengthening vital resistance. The body may be regarded as a nutritional machine that needs to be kept in good running order, by adjustment and repairing, but the essential fundamental condition for the maintaining and restoring of health is the maintenance of normal, vigorous nutrition by simple, wholesome food, pure air, water, sunshine, exercise and good mental conditions. The recovery of health depends upon discovering the nature of the abnormal conditions that constitute disease, removing the causes, and leading back gradually and carefully to the normal conditions. Violent means and sudden changes are to be avoided always.

--- A --- TRANSITION

By ARTHUR W. PATTERSON

"Good morning, sir."

"Mr. Margrave, I presume?"

"I am. How can I be of service to you?"

An elderly man received a much younger one in his office. Instead of at once replying to the last question the latter produced a card bearing the name "Alonso Ericson," then, after being offered a chair, said:

"My visit will doubtless seem strange to you at first, but I trust that I shall be able in time to secure your concurrence with its object. You have a daughter whose life has recently been blighted by the loss of her fiancé?"

"I have," replied Mr. Margrave somewhat coldly.

"There are remedies for such blights, and I come to propose one for this case."

Mr. Margrave looked at the stranger, wondering at his impudence.

"Marriage is the remedy I refer to, but you are well aware that marriage is simply the final act of being necessary to withdraw the concentration of the feelings from the one who is lost and unite them on a living object."

"That in my daughter's case would be impossible."

"Not desirable?"

"Certainly! I do not wish her to pass a lifetime in mourning."

"I am an artist by profession, though, being cursed with a fortune in my own right of $200,000, I do not expect to make any great success."

"Wait, sir, will you kindly inform me what your profession or your fortune is to me?"

"I will as I proceed. One evening several years ago I saw your daughter at a ball. The moment I looked at her I knew that I saw the woman I wanted for a life partner. I made inquiries about her and was told that she was engaged to a gentleman also present at the ball. The troubles that invariably accompany love were upon me. My first act was to seek the man who had been so fortunate, and I was surprised to see a slight resemblance to myself."

"You are something like him, now you speak of it?"

"It is this slight resemblance which is the key—provided I win your concurrence—to the situation."

Mr. Margrave had by this time become interested.

"I will give you references as to my social position and as a man among men. As to my fortune, I refer you to my lawyers, Peters & Waters. If after examination you are satisfied to give me an opportunity to win your daughter that is all I ask."

"By what process do you propose to make the attack upon her heart? But, no; I will make the inquiries. Then it will be time to explain your plan, or, rather, to gratify my curiosity, which I admit has been excited."

Mr. Ericson bowed himself out and in a fortnight received a note from Mr. Margrave stating that the reports he had received had been eminently satisfactory and if he could resurrect a buried heart he was at liberty—in deed, welcome—to do so. In reply the applicant merely asked for a photograph of the man whose place he hoped to take.

One afternoon when Mr. Margrave went home from business he carried with him a present for his daughter. It was a portrait in oils of her lost lover. She was delighted with it and pronounced it a speaking likeness. A month from that day while looking at it she discovered something about it that was slightly unlike the original, or, rather, it was like another picture of the original. Another month went by, and still another difference was noticeable. These changes kept occurring from time to time. She began to wonder if her memory of her lover was slipping away from her, if the picture was really defective, though she had not at first recognized its defects. She mentioned the matter to her father, who looked at her curiously, thoughtfully, and suggested that if the portrait was destroying her remembrance of the dead and substituting a painted image perhaps she would better banish it. But to this she returned a decided negative, declaring that she was growing to love the portrait more and more every day.

A year after young Ericson had called on Mr. Margrave he dropped into the latter's office one morning with an oil painting.

"The successive portraits forming a slow transition between another and myself is ended in this picture, which I painted from my reflection in a mirror. You have been very fortunate in removing the pictures and substituting others without your daughter's discovering what you have done. Hang this portrait in the place of the last; then introduce me."

When one evening Mr. Margrave brought home with him a friend to dinner Ethel Margrave, on being introduced to him, caught at the back of a chair for support. It seemed to her that her lover had arisen from the dead and stood before her. Later, when she mentioned the resemblance of Mr. Ericson to the man she had lost, some admitted that there was a similarity, others could see none at all. Nevertheless, her mourning was soon thrown off, Ericson was a frequent caller at the house and within a few months after his introduction she married him.

Ericson has long intended to tell his wife of the plan by which he drew her from the dead lover, but as yet has not done so.

ADVANCE OF AVIATION.

Perfection of the Motor and the Education of the Bird Man.

What seems to have been overlooked in discussing the development of the aeroplane is the education of the aviator himself. At first man did not know what could be done with his new toy. I remember distinctly, only so far back as 1910 at Belmont park, the aviators would look up at the flags over the hangars and if they were stirred by more than a breath of wind they refused to take the air. Nowadays a flier must be poor indeed if he cannot manage to handle his machine in a thirty mile wind, while a good many flights have been made in winds having a velocity of a mile a minute or greater.

The remarkable advance of aviation, therefore, is really due not so much to the development of the aeroplane itself, either mechanically or aerodynamically, as to the perfection of the motor and the education of the aviator. There is no question but what an aviator of today could take one of the machines made in 1908 and do "stunts" which were not thought possible at the time the machine was constructed.

Aviators have learned more about the invisible air currents and the possibilities of their machines and have become more and more daring as time went on. Furthermore, as soon as competition appeared and one aviator was placed against another each one was goaded on to take greater and greater risks. This process developed the exhibition bird man as you see him today. He is a flier who will navigate in any wind and will arise from and alight upon almost any field.

And the remarkable part of it all is that the accidents are so few in view of the large number of men flying and the enormous distances covered. The death toll is so much discussed largely because upon the addition of every new martyr the newspapers republish the entire list. If this were done in the case of railroad accidents or accidents at sea the papers would have to issue large extra editions upon the occasion of each fatality.—Earle L. Orington in Engineering Magazine.

CLOTHES OF THE FUTURE.

They May Be Made of Stone, Iron, Glass or Paper Fabric.

Clothes without shearing the sheep or plucking the cotton plant are ready for us whenever we get ready for them.

Stone, iron, glass and paper supply the materials, soft and pliable as woolens, cottons and silks, some of them washable by putting them in the fire, some of them unwearetable and others so cheap they may be thrown away when soiled.

Glass makes beautiful dress goods, colors to please and sheen and sparkle all their own. The Russians are manufacturing a fabric of "a filamentous stone from the Siberian mines," flexible as any product of the mills, practically indestructible, for which the furnace is the laundry. Iron cloth is in common use, that horsehair looking material used in stiffening coat collars.

"Limestone wool" is made in the electric furnace. Clothes of this material cannot be damaged by fire or grease and are as flexible as clothing made of sheep's wool. An English manufacturer is making a fabric of old ropes. Japanese troops during the war with Russia proved that paper clothes are serviceable and warmer than those of cloth. English, French and German manufacturers are turning out paper dressing gowns and bath robes. Even gloves, which may be cleaned many times, are made of paper.—Exchange.

A Cultured Rat Catcher.

Professor Louis Hirsch, who recently was appointed federal rat catcher—a new position, by the way—is a chemist, a graduate of Heidelberg, and has grown wealthy through his ability to rid whole districts of the disease carrying rodents. He contracted to clear the capital at Washington of rats, mice and other vermin and is making good. Professor Hirsch came to this country unable to speak more than a few words of English. Despite his education and training he nearly starved before he could find work.

A Freak Guidepost.

At Bromley, Kent, England, there has just been erected a post for the guidance of travelers which is certainly unique. It gives directions to such distant points as John O'Groat's and Land's End, while one finger indicates the way to Paris. On the top of the post is a model of a biplane, while on the three principal arms are fixed replicas in miniature of a racing motor car, a motorcycle and a monoplane.

Pushing Out the Army Mule.

The army mule is doomed, according to Captain E. A. Williams, quartermaster of the United States army. He says the animal, which has been important in the past, eventually is to be supplanted by the auto truck. "We will gradually put trucks in as the mules die, and in eight or nine years the trucks will be in and the mules out of the army service."

Blind Potatoes.

Every one knows, of course, that potatoes have eyes, but it may be news that they are sometimes afflicted with blindness. A recent publication of an English agricultural authority makes the assertion that some potatoes are afflicted with blindness and says the disease is so called on account of its completely destroying the eyes of tubers, making them worthless for seed.

The finding of a grip containing a number of human bones at the union station in Tampa last August created a mystery which has just been solved. The grip belonged to Dr. A. G. Porro of Tampa. Young Dr. Porro is now practicing in Boston.

The farmers' bureau, which was recently organized at Live Oak, has been very fortunate in securing the services of Thomas Z. Atkeson of Columbia, Ala., who has been employed by the United States government at that point for several years, to act as agricultural expert.

After a preliminary hearing covering two days, Mrs. Florence Bartlett, while a visitor in Tampa from a northern state, was held by Judge Whitaker for trial in the criminal court of record, on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. She gave bonds in the sum of $200.

The Ft. Lauderdale town election will be pulled off this month, and politics is waxing warm, especially in the mayoralty contest. The two aspirants for the position are W. H. Marshall, the present incumbent, and George G. Matthews, editor of the Sentinel, and who also aspires to a federal position in Brazil.

W. S. Witham, the Atlanta capitalist, who has his money back of a chain of 120 banks, one of which is the Dade County bank of Ft. Lauderdale, arranged this week to build a new concrete business block in Ft. Lauderdale. Building operations will begin at once, and the structure is expected to be completed in six weeks.

W. G. Brobein, president and general manager of the Peninsular Telephone company, has announced the program for the meeting of the Florida Telephone association at Tampa, March 13th and 14th. Mayor D. B. McKay will deliver the address of welcome to which a response will be given by Dr. W. L. Moor, vice president of the association.

At an early hour Sunday morning Jim Whitset, a negro, was killed at the Skinner lumber camp, near Hogan, his head having been literally chopped off with an axe, alleged to have been in the hands of Warren Dixon, another negro, who had previously been attacked by Whitset with a knife and severely cut. Another gruesome tragedy has thus been added to the annals of criminology of Duval county.

Francis Bridger and Fred Cleveland started from Key West Friday morning on their proposed long hike around the world. Their first objective point is Jacksonville and from there they will go to New York where they will take a steamer for England, and after arriving there will visit the home of Bridger in Cardiff, Wales. The pedestrians say they will cover the continent and part of Asia, after which they will return to this country and walk across the United States.

A Mystery

By F. A. MITCHEL.

Herman Beck was a guide in the Swiss Alps. Old Gottlieb Swinger, the cheesemaker, had a very pretty daughter, Anna, whom Herman wished to marry, but her father would not consent. "I have nothing but a few cheese presses," he said to her, "a dozen goats and the chalet over our heads. I can consequently give you no dowry. Herman has nothing except what he can earn guiding tourists. Instead of having a son-in-law to relieve me of providing for one of my children I shall likely in time have grandchildren on my hands, for Herman is liable at any time to slide down to his death with an avalanche or fall over a precipice."

Anna gave this reply of her father to Herman, who cast his eyes thoughtfully up the mountain side, then said: "Tell your father that whether I marry you or do not marry you I will provide for you."

When Anna told her father that he exclaimed: "Herman is a fool. He dreams dreams as high up in the clouds as the peaks he climbs. How could he provide for you?"

The girl made no reply to this, for she did not know what Herman meant. She knew that he was full of strange ideas, and she was impressed with the sad but resolute expression on his face when he spoke the words that she has repeated to her father. However, there was nothing to be done in the matter, for she had no idea of disobeying her father by marrying Herman.

One day an English gentleman, engaged Herman to make an ascent with him. The two started out together, and when they got up to where the climbing was dangerous Herman united them by a rope. While moving along over a narrow path with a precipice on one side the tourist slipped and fell on a side of the divide which was but some twenty feet above a ledge. The shock, however, caused Herman to lose his balance, and he fell on the other side and hung over the precipice. His ax slipped from his hands, and he heard it strike far below. Fortunately, the rope held, but Herman knew that would not long bear the strain and any rubbing against the sharp rocks on the edge of the divide would surely cause it to break. For this reason he could not use it to climb up on, and, having no ax, he could not cut steps in the ice. He called out to the tourist:

"We cannot remain long in this position, for as soon as night comes and the temperature falls we will freeze. If I cut the rope you will fall on the ledge and can descend the mountain. I would like to sell you my life for money. It will enable you to live."

The Englishman would not at first consent to any such plan, asserting that he would blame himself and be blamed for accepting his life on such terms. But Herman told him that the small strands that composed the rope were gradually giving way and it would soon break, so the tourist finally said that he would accede to Herman's terms, though he could not see how the latter could be benefited by money after his death. Then Herman told him it was to be paid to Anna, the daughter of old Gottlieb, the cheesemaker in the valley.

"I will give her," said the tourist, "half of what I possess, or $10,000."

"She will not know what to do with so much," said Herman, "but you can settle that with her father."

The tourist heard nothing more from Herman. Some minutes passed, awful minutes, during which the Englishman knew that a soul was preparing for death. The surrounding mountains seemed a part of eternity, the silence that of infinite space. Then suddenly he dropped, landing on the ledge below.

For awhile his mind was so filled with the terrible fate of his guide that he could think of nothing else. Then, realizing that he must save himself in order to keep his part of the contract he had made, he got up and, walking along the ledge, found a place some distance below where he could regain the path by which he and his guide had ascended. Night came on, and he lost his way. He would have sunk down in the snow and permitted the cold to end his life had he not been buoyed by a desire to pay the money he had promised. Indeed, when it was thought that he must live under the cloud of his guide's death and his own safety he would have preferred to die. He stopped to rest and was getting drowsy when he saw a light in a chalet window some distance below. Rising, he struggled on and when a door was opened to him fell on the floor insensible.

The next day he descended into the valley and appeared at the Gottlieb home. When Anna saw him come in alone and looking haggard she knew her lover had perished and swooned. The tourist told them that Herman had gone down into a precipice, then, without further explanation, called for a notary and executed papers transferring to Anna Gottlieb property in England worth $50,000.

"I wonder," said the awe-stricken cheesemaker, "how Herman knew that the opportunity would occur for him to make this provision for my daughter."

Herman Beck was the only person who could throw any light on this, and since he was dead it must remain a secret.

A COLD BLOODED DUEL

Instant Death Was Assured For One of the Contestants.

An extraordinary duel, which at the time created an immense sensation, was one in which the decision was arrived at not by swords or pistols, but by means of a deadly poison.

The men—who, it is hardly necessary to say, had fallen out over a lady—had left the arrangement of details to their seconds, and until they faced each other they did not know by what method they were to settle their differences.

One of the seconds was a doctor, and he had made up for the occasion four black pellets, all identical in size and shape.

"In one of these," he said, "I have placed a sufficient quantity of prussic acid to cause the almost instantaneous death of any one who swallows it. We will decide by the toss of a coin which of you is to have first choice, and you will alternately draw and swallow a pill until the poison shows its effects."

Two of the pellets were then taken as the toss had decided, but without effect in either case.

"This time," said the doctor, speaking of the two pellets remaining, "you must both swallow the pill at the same instant."

The choice was again made, and in a few seconds one of the men lay dead on the grass.—Pall Mall Gazette.

CANARIES ARE NERVOUS.

And They Dread Mice That Like to Steal Their Bird Seed.

One of the common troubles with canaries and one that few bird owners realize is that of nervousness. The nervous system of a canary is as highly sensitive as that of a delicate woman. Any sudden shock to their senses, whether of sight or sound, is liable to throw them into convulsions, that often result in death. An old bird dealer mentions a frequent but rarely known cause of sickness and even death among the little creatures.

"I had two canaries," he said, "that for some reason I could not discover fell into a frightfully nervous state and started to pine away. I doctored them with all the remedies known to bird lore, but the poor creatures continued to droop in dismal decline. At last I discovered the trouble. It was mice. 'Mice are as fond of bird seeds as canaries themselves.' In the darkness of the night the mice would creep through the bars of the cage and devour the seeds, while the poor little canaries sat above shivering themselves into a state of nervous prostration from the very terror of the monsters below. I removed the cage to a position where the mice could not get at it, and my pets rapidly recovered."

One Sin of Housekeeping.

The ultimate sin of the housekeeper is straightening things out in a desk or on a table. When I depart from my quarters in the morning my sitting room table looks self-possessed and homelike, bearing three ash trays, four or five books, matches, a pipe, a can of tobacco, papers, magazines, pencils, pens, a letter or two, a bottle of ink and maybe a necktie or so. A place for everything and everything just where it ought to be easy to reach or thereabouts. But, alas, on return what a state that table is in. The books have been put back on the shelves, the ash trays mobilized, pen and pencils arranged in orderly lines, neckties stuck away in a dresser and the letters planted in the most conspicuous place with those containing bills uppermost.—Toledo Blade.

Pliny's Jewel Stories.

Pliny declared that a diamond was so hard that if placed on an anvil and struck with a sledge hammer it would give back a blow of such force as to shiver both anvil and hammer to pieces. Another of his wonderful tales states that "on the shore of the island of Cyprus there was a stone lion having eyes formed of emeralds, which shone so brightly that all the fishes were ingloriously frightened away. The fishermen accordingly pulled the emeralds out and put in glass eyes instead, whereupon the wise fishes became bolder and returned to their accustomed nets."

His Income.

"They say you get 250 marks a month. I can't believe it. Tell me how."

"I get 110 marks salary; then I don't pay my rent, 40 marks; that's 150 marks; I owe the milkman 30 marks, that's 180 marks; my butcher 40 marks, 220 marks, and every month I raise 30 marks out of my friends, making an income of 250 marks a month!"—Fliegende Blätter.

Strychnine?

"Say, Maria, have you noticed how this infernal cat jumps in my lap every time I sit down to read?"

"Yes, well, I suppose the poor thing is tired."

"Well, the next time I go to the drug store I'll get something (bitter) for that tired feline!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Ancient Inspiration.

Artist—Here's a cute little inspiration that I thought worthy of preservation in crayon.

Editor (after a hasty glance at the sketch)—Why, I've always supposed that little inspiration was preserved in oil.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TAG DAY NEXT SATURDAY

BENEFIT CITY ISLAND.

Next Saturday, March 15th, has been selected as Tag Day to secure funds for the improvement of the city island and on that day young ladies will be stationed in all parts of the city to offer to the public tags which may be paid for in any amount from five or ten cents up. The civics department of the Palmetto club is in charge of the movement for the City Island Park and Library association. The improvement of the city island is a matter that should interest everyone having the welfare of the city at heart and Tag Day will give all an opportunity to assist the cause so far as they feel able.

Truth.
It is more from carelessness about truth than from intentional lying that there is so much falsehood in the world.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

Pain as Love's Accompaniment.
The loftiest and purest love too often does but inflame the cloud of life with endless fire of pain.—John Ruskin.

NO ARCHITECT YET SELECTED TO DESIGN PALMETTO HOTEL

H. MARSHALL GARDINER WIRES MANUFACTURERS RECORD THE BUILDING WILL BE MODERN AND FIREPROOF.

That Daytona is getting some valuable advertising out of the recent deal by which the Palmetto hotel changed hands is shown by the following from the Manufacturers Record, published in Baltimore:

Fla., Daytona.—H. Marshall Gardiner, Nantucket, Mass. (temporarily care Palmetto hotel, Daytona, Fla.) purchased Palmetto hotel property and will erect new hotel on site. Mr. Gardiner wires Manufacturers Record: "Have not decided on architect; Moorish design; fireproof construction; probably cement and hollow tile; modern as can be made practical; cost $250,000 to $500,000."

ST. LUCIE APPROPRIATION HAS CAUSED BOOM THERE.

WEST PALM BEACH, March 11—The appropriation of $100,000 for the opening of St. Lucie inlet and making of it a harbor of refuge for ocean going vessels, has given a big impetus to the sale of property in the vicinity of Stuart, and at Port Seawall, the new town that has been laid out opposite Gilberts bar.

The signing of this appropriation bill was one of the last acts of President Taft, and surely nothing that he did while in office will be more appreciated by the people of this section or prove of more benefit to the surrounding country.

It is anticipated that as soon as the work begins on the harbor improvements that building operations will start in the new town, and all indications point to its rapid growth. No point has more natural advantages to recommend it. It is in fact the site which first attracted the attention of Henry M. Flagler when he came to the lower East Coast, but on account of the land then being in litigation, he was forced to come to what is now Palm Beach to build his winter resort.

Very little work will be required to make a harbor at Gilbert's bar, and the promoters of the new town are sanguine that Port Seawall will develop within a few years into a second Jacksonville.

CONDITION OF POPE IS NOT SO FAVORABLE.

ROME, March 11—Fever and ill effects cling to the pope, who is not so well today. A hard cough is causing considerable anxiety.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

SIMPLE DIET FOR RHEUMATISM.

Dr. Hoyt, writing on "The Riddle of Rheumatism," says that the diet should be selected with a view to preventing auto-toxemia, as simple and elemental as possible. He suggests rice and bread with butter or butter-milk and crackers. This is essentially the principle of the monodiet which has been systematically advocated by the writer of these Hints for several years, and demonstrated by his own experiments on himself, and many cases reported by readers. Auto-intoxication is the fundamental physical cause of disease, and if the simple diet will avoid it in sickness, so as to allow the recuperative powers to overcome the disease, a like benefit will accrue from the practice in health, giving a greater efficiency and more permanent health, as experience proves. The benefit, if any, derived from indulging the habit of mixing foods indiscriminately, is not enough to offset the loss of efficiency and health that follow the adoption of a simple diet, after the system has been gradually adapted to the change.

FIRE AT NEW SMYRNA DOES ESTIMATED DAMAGE OF $1,500

BLAZE STARTS IN POOL ROOM AND DESTROYS THE BUILDING THEN SPREADS TO R. S. MALEY WAREHOUSE.

NEW SMYRNA, March 11—A fire originating in the pool room of L. Chisholm, colored, at an early Monday morning, entirely destroyed that building and its contents, and also partly destroyed the warehouse of R. S. Mailey. The warehouse was filled with goods. The total loss is estimated at $1,500, partly covered with insurance.

Good Sign of the Times.
The determination of the masses of the people to better their conditions is one of the most healthy signs the country can have.

Happiness.
Happiness is mostly a state of mind; the most persistent singer we ever knew was a farm hand who had to work fifteen hours a day.

Stopping Over.
New Minister—"How did you like my sermon this morning?" Enthusiastic Parishioner—"It was simply grand. I stayed over."

Runaway.
"I think old fellow," began Mr. Familyman, "It is time you were beginning to hunt for a wife." "To hunt for one?" replied the highly eligible bachelor. "You mean it is time I gave up avoiding one and allowed myself to be captured."
